Editorial Note

The smell of earth when it rains...! Divine...

A typical summer day and you just reach home, drained and tired. At that very moment, there is a thunder and heavy rains follow to cool things off. YEAH! That's life calling!

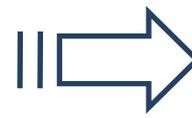

Just take time out, and watch the rain through your windows sipping hot coffee and some bajji-pakodas. You could also sit on a chair by your window and read a good book. Your evening is charged up. You could probably then work a few more hours! Kidding.

If you are stressed on a rainy day, a way to relax is just lying down on a couch or sofa and listening to the rain beating down on your roof. Tune on to some melodies and time to get lost in nothingness.

Driving down and it rains suddenly? Wait a moment and just enjoy the rain. Well, you could get drenched to reach your destination too and it's a fun thing to do.

The perfect opportunity to spend time with your family is a rainy day. Have fun with them.

Nature has its way to do things. This issue is dedicated to the beauty of rain. Its not just irrigation to farmers, it's a way to enjoy life!

GARDENING

By Swathi M

Hello Friends,

Let me share my view of gardening,
Garden, nothing less than heaven.

The word 'garden' drives me to my collection of childhood memories in my small garden.

I always enjoyed the nature's creation and kept myself inclined to God's wonders. Those were my awesome days. Unfortunately those days will never return. I used to sit & study under the shades of the trees. I used to share my feelings with those little tiny plants, whether it was me being upset with my Mother scolding's or my happiness. Enjoying my sunset evenings amidst the blossom colourful flowers with colourful butterflies had become a habit😊

Oh! My God!! The lessons that I learnt from those trees are many. To state few

- In our life we should always be like those trees which provide shade to the needy & create a pleasant state of mind.
- Trees are always independent & never seek their nurturing from others as they are sure that God will shower rains.

I hope you all remember a must question in our science paper during School days i.e. "What is photosynthesis?" Practically I had an opportunity to see it in my small garden!! That's great right? I still remember once I had been to my relative's house for summer holidays. One day I got scolded from one of my relatives for converting the waste land into a place for plants. I had used plenty of water in planting those pretty saplings!! The reason behind her scolding was the scarcity of water in the small village. Thankfully I was rescued by my brother. The outcome of this incident made me happy because even today my relative is nurturing those plants. I am glad that I made her notice fresh green vegetables beside her home rather than in a vegetable market. I in turn got mouth watering yummy food- ah contentment !

There are many things to share but I would like to conclude that Nature is a bundle of lessons which makes us realize those little facts about life. It depends on each individual to find them & make their life worth living.:-)

S ATTAC Series: Attac d Charity

"The more you give, the less you need". - Anonymous

P The mythological character Karna is widely remembered for the charity he did. His principle of "When thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth" (Don't let your left hand know what your right hand is doing) is taught from the very beginning to every child. Let's understand a little about charity before we begin.

C Charity is defined as "the act of giving money, food, or other kinds of help to people who are poor, sick, etc". Charity gives immense peace to both the giver as well as the taker. That is why it is said, "Takers eat well, and givers sleep well". Charity in itself is an act of gratitude for what one has received from the world.

I Nothing in this world is ours; be it fortune, our material things, money, property, fame, position and job that we worked hard to attain. We are attached to these material possessions. At the end of our life these things won't follow us. Whatever fortune we have piled up, we must leave it. We came into this world with empty hands. During our life in this world, we have the illusion that we obtained a fortune. At death, our hands are empty. We can't hold our fortune after our death. Alexander the Great reiterates the same when he was on his deathbed - "I spent my whole life pursuing wealth, but I was wasting my time most of the time. My wish to let people understand that I came to this world in empty hands and I will leave this world also in empty hand".

1 Today, Charity is done by two categories of people:

Human attitude can be divided into:

Category 1: One who are genuinely interested in it

Category 2: One who do it just for name and fame

Category 1:

Those people who fall in the first category do not do charity just for the sake of it. Most of such charities go unnoticed. These are such category of people who believe in giving to the less – fortunate. Charles Dickens is true when he says “No one is useless in this world who lightens the burdens of another”. We have a lot to learn from Mother Earth who is an epitome of a true silent giver and not expecting anything in return.

Category 2:

On the other hand, people who fall in the second category are very dangerous because “the small charity that comes from the heart is better than the great charity that comes from the head”. In such cases, the charity doesn't give mental peace to the donor. Such a charity is no charity. Our attitude should be of a genuine concern; purely for self-satisfaction.

Also, preaching charity is not sufficient. Thoughts must be converted into actions. Here, the action is more vital as compared to the attitude or the kind heartedness. Mahatma Gandhi said, “The simplest acts of kindness are by far more powerful than a thousand heads bowing in prayer”. It is not enough if we have good intentions, we have to convert them into actions.

Charity is injurious unless it helps the recipient to become independent of it. “Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day. Teach a man to fish and you feed him for a lifetime”. This one sentence encompasses what charity should and should not be.

SPC Message: “As the purse is emptied, the heart is filled”. – Victor Hugo
