Cf Steve Jobs – Why Was He Different?

If we look closely, Steve Jobs was singularly devoted not to technology, but to how people interacted with technology. It wasn't for us to fit into a world of computers, but for computers to fit into a world of people. That is what made Jobs different.

He didn't lead a company – he led us. He inspired us. He had a cause, and we followed him in his pursuit. Let me portray some facets of the genius that was Steve – what made him an iconic businessman, which transformed in a major way the lifestyle of human beings and their interaction with technology.

1. Man Of Passion: If we analyse Steve's life, one fact emerges for sure – that he was overtly passionate about what he thought he wanted to achieve. Even during his drifting days in 1984, when he was humiliated and demoted in his own company, Steve was passionate about what he created and what he believed would change the life of the entire world.

3. Belief In 'Oneself': Steve turned what many believed impossible into reality. This focus helped him his companies to sail through difficulties and made him the architect of many successful products. Even in the most difficult time, when a normal person would have cracked, Steve found opportunities that would not have existed otherwise. In his own words, "I didn't see it then, but it turned out that getting fired from Apple was the best thing that could have ever happened to me. The heaviness of being successful was replaced by the lightness of being a beginner again, less sure about everything. It freed me to enter one of the most creative periods of my life".

Ecstasy: The Achievable

Ecstasy means an overwhelming feeling of great happiness or joyful excitement.

Can a normal human being achieve ecstasy? The answer is the definite positive.

The simple ways to achieve the same are –

- ❖ Others before self – When we put others life ahead of life, happiness always springs. Look at the joy a mother enjoys when her child eats more than what she normally eats.
- ❖ Truth – “The best thing about the truth is, you don’t have to remember it”. When you are truthful, the mind won’t have any wrong or polluted or inferior thoughts.
- ❖ Training the mind – It is important to train the mind with positive thoughts so that even in adverse scenarios we can prosper. When a crow shits on you, thank God cows won’t fly.
- ❖ See good in everything – Be happy not because everything is good but because you can see good in everything.

Mantra: Be your Own Anchor—Celebrate your strengths

- ❖ Swami Vivekananda would often quote from the Upanishads, 'Aham Brahmasmi', which means, each soul is a manifestation of divinity. Meditate daily on this reality and it will fill you with an unparallel spirit of self-confidence.
- ❖ Your ability, knowledge and preparation are enough to propel you towards success. Have faith. Swamiji taught, 'If you have faith in all the gods...and still have no faith in yourself, there is no salvation for you'.
- ❖ Confidence is not about knowing everything; it comes from identifying and celebrating even the smallest of your strengths. In fact, always be proactive in serving others, for that is an excellent way to realize your own hidden strengths.
- ❖ Hence, instead of allowing your weaknesses to overpower your strengths, celebrate your strengths, put them to good use and overcome your weaknesses.

We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act, but a habit.

We realize the value of the moment only when the last moment arrives!

Concept: Uncanny valley

This refers to the feeling of revulsion that many human beings feel when they interact with humanoid robots that are designed to closely resemble them. The feeling of unease is linked to the unrealistic nature of such robots which fails to perfectly ape the physical and behavioural characteristics of human beings. It is believed that the revulsion may be a natural reaction of the human brain in order to avoid unsuitable mates. Robots that can look and behave perfectly like human beings, however, may not cause unsettling feelings in human beings that interact with them.

App of the month: Merriam-webster

This is the best Android app for English language reference, education, and vocabulary building. No internet connection is required to view the definitions or thesaurus (although you do need a connection to view illustrations, hear audio pronunciations, and use voice search).
